About the District

The Trimble Local School District encompasses approximately 36 square miles in the North part of Athens County. The district includes the Villages of Jacksonville, Glouster, and Trimble. With a total enrollment of 850 students, the district houses one elementary school, a middle school, and a high school.

Our schools are well supported by the community including a Textbook Foundation Committee, a group of alumni, who annually conduct fundraisers to raise funds to purchase textbooks and supplies for our students. The Foundation has donated over One Million dollars since its inception.

Trimble Local enjoys a unique relationship with the Ohio University and Hocking College and encourages students to participate in college level classes through the College Credit Plus program.

We are the recipients of a 21st Century Grant in conjunction with Ohio University.

About the Community

A large part of the history of Athens, Hocking and Perry Counties in Ohio is the local coal industry. Glouster, Trimble and Jacksonville are three of the cities included in the Little Cities of Black Diamonds Region. Coal mining once dominated every aspect of life and physical appearance of the community. Coal, one of Ohio's most important mineral resources was and still is, mined in the Glouster area.

Athens County, home to Ohio University and Hocking College, is nestled deep in the Appalachian foothills of Southeast Ohio.

Just over an hour from Columbus, three from Cincinnati, and three from Pittsburgh, Athens Co. is a popular destination spot for outdoor enthusiasts, art lovers, history buffs and anyone who wants to escape the fast pace of the city.

Hunting, kayaking, bouldering, hiking, cycling and mountain biking are just some of the most popular outdoor activities.

Burr Oak State Park, located North of Glouster has a rustic country charm in its scenery of wooded hills and valley farms. As one of Ohio's resort parks, Burr Oak offers a wide array of overnight accommodations with its lodge, cottages and campground. Burr Oak exhibits the wilderness spirit of Ohio along with boating swimming and fishing.

Home of the Appalachian Color in the Hills Festival, held in October, as well as the Old Settlers Festival, during Labor Day weekend.
