Student councils from all over the state helped muck out stalls, rake the grounds and even build basketball hoops to help the camp get ready for the upcoming season and the new campers. Even the cold didn't stop these kids from working! Victory Junction is the state charity that NCASC has adopted and supports every year. This camp is for students who have been diagnosed with medical issues or disabilities. Stay tuned to see how you can help SAMS "Send A Kid to Camp" later this year!
