

Little Wound School

The Little Wound School invites you to become a member of our Mustang family.

Little Wound School is a K-12 tribal grant school operating under a P.L. 100-297 grant from the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The school is located in Kyle, South Dakota on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation. The beautiful badlands and Black Hills are both nearby to the north for recreation and siteseeing ventures.

Leaders of Change

Our mission is to provide a sacred environment for students to achieve academic and Lakota language and cultural excellence.

Little Wound School has been a leader at providing a quality education grounded in Lakota culture and history. Name in honor of Chief Little Wound, today our school educates an approximately 900 students in preK through grade 12.

We invite you to become a part of our Mustang tiospaye (family). We are confident that you'll find Little Wound to be a welcoming and hospitable school district. Cante waste yuha - "we greet you with a warm heart". Come and discover why so many people have said,

"Once a Mustang, always a Mustang"

Student-Centered

This year we are celebrating 50 years of opening our doors as an accredited high school which made it the third high school on the reservation. Students in Kyle and in other neighboring communities no longer were forced to leave their families to attend high school at boarding schools.

Culturally Strong

Lakota culture has always been one of our most important platforms. K-12 students receive Lakota language instruction and cultural courses are required for high school graduation. Students also have the opportunity to attend cultural activities throughout the year, participate in pow wows, cultural ceremonies, song and dance, and games.

Our students are some of the most incredibly talented people in the nation: they include Gates Millennium Scholars, rodeo champions, basketball and track champions, state golf champions, actors, published poets, artists, and more.
