Dear parents,

Just to send you an update...your child has been given a packet of summer enrichment activities for this summer, along with their textbook. They will be responsible for turning in the work when they return for the new term, as well as bringing the textbook back to continue the next course. The students made great gains this year. I was so proud of them. I wanted to keep them on-track this summer, so that when the new term begins that they can continue learning at a high level of performance without feeling that they have forgotten so much over the summer.

However, the AP exam (and graduation) will be here too soon. We all have a large investment in this test, so I want them to be prepared.

The activities are meant to be done intermittently throughout the summer and not to dominate the summer. They need family time and to re-charge, as do I.

Have a wonderful summer and thank you for allowing me to teach such a stellar group of students!

Sincerely,

Margie Shelby
