Dear Brentwood Parents and Guardians,

Over the weekend, our District received a Safe2Say Something tip regarding a potential school shooting threat posted online. Upon receiving this information, the District immediately notified the Brentwood Borough Police, who swiftly launched an investigation. After making contact with the family involved and thoroughly reviewing the situation, the Brentwood Borough Police determined that the threat was not credible.

We are grateful for the prompt action taken by our community. In situations like these, timely reporting through the Safe2Say Something program enables both the District and law enforcement to respond quickly and thoroughly. This case reinforces the importance of reporting concerns, and we strongly encourage the inclusion of specific information in any tip to assist in accurate and efficient responses.

Once again, the Brentwood Borough Police have confirmed that there is no credible threat to our school community. We continue to encourage students and families to use the Safe2Say Something program to report any concerns related to safety. Details about the program can be accessed via the phone number and link below:

Thank you for your vigilance and cooperation in helping keep our schools safe.

Sincerely,

Amy M. Burch, D.Ed.
Superintendent of the Brentwood Borough School District
